

Be Green and Active!

Transportation is responsible for nearly one third of all carbon emissions in the U.S. Our personal transportation choices every day can make a huge impact on our community's environmental health. Earth Day is Wednesday, April 22, 2020! Celebrate your part by walking or rolling (bike, skate, scoot, bus) to school to celebrate your lighter footprint on the planet.

Active transportation brings these Earth-friendly benefits and more:

- Reducing fossil fuels and air pollution
- Boosting community safety by reducing traffic congestion near schools and in neighborhoods
- Building lifelong healthy habits and a sense of community by walking and biking together

Ask your school's Green Team or walk + bike coordinator if your school can celebrate active transportation as part of an Earth Day celebration. Also get ready to show your spirit during Walk and Bike Challenge Month in May.
